

TABLE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS.

More light relief from the War, while we take a look at top line table tennis. Referees and audience have to be in good condition - "To me from you".

These international champions leave the onlookers completely fagged out. The finalists in this battle of the giants have completely wrecked one spectator.

For ~~ix~~ two whole days these American exponents have been biffing that ball backwards and forwards. The only possible way to stop them now is for one of them to win or for someone to call the game "Ping-Pong".

Where there's a winner, there's always a loser. There's something about the game that gets you.
