AUSTRALIA'S MECHANISED CAVALRY.

Under a blazing sun, Australia's mechanised cavalry rides the sand dunes of the North African Desert. Over this barren, desolate country, hard riding despatch riders match their skill against the perils of a trackless waste. Jumping, jolting, wrenching; twisting red-hot handlebars, they steer their way over the sun-baked ground, in a swirling cloud of choking, blinding dust and sand. This is how the daredevil riders toughen themselves and their machines for the dangerous days that lie ahead.

Back in Australia on the speedways, racing for adventure and the thrill of roaring speed was their trade. There's no stopping these Diggers. For two pins they'd bounce their bikes into the middle of Musso's dirt track.
