

C-552800

CAMP SCHOOL FOR CHILDREN.

A new departure in practical education in the country for boys and girls, resident or evacuated. Camp life, homely ~~influence~~ influence, and classroom study are deftly mixed to produce a rational understanding of a balanced form of living. Geography and Geometry take their place side-by-side with gardening. Education takes ~~on~~ fuller meaning in this open-air experiment in Sussex, where they develop children according to their talents and inclinations.

While the boys dig for victory, the girls are putting in some spade work for the time when they will offer unburnt offerings to their husbands. The experiment is a joint enterprise between the National Camps Corporation and Local Education Authorities, who aim at a sane and healthy outlook on the part of the boys and girls.

An old fashioned bell announces a meal run on up-to-date lines. Self-service counter-lunches are supervised by Camp Managers. A solid foundation of a cut off the joint and two veg is something they all take in. ~~E~~ Citizens of the future, from devastated areas, continue their education under novel conditions in the country.