

32045000
41 / 21

AMERICA'S MOSQUITO NAVY.

A line up of some of the picked men of Uncle Sam's Mosquito Navy - men who pilot the mile-a-minute anti-submarine craft which America is building. Off the Florida Coast we get a glimpse of them from the air as the combined torpedo boat and submarine wreckers take part in manoeuvres at Miami.

Among the first arms to be shipped to Britain as the Lease and Lend Bill becomes law in the States, will be a substantial number of these mosquito craft. Fast little fellers with a big sting,... they should make any U.boat feel about as cheerful as a tin of worms at a fishing party.