ROOSEVELT SIGNS.

To the White House, home of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a Government Official brings the historic Lease and Lend Bill (less than an hour ~~hour~~ after its passage by Congress) for the President's signature.

As Mr. Roosevelt signs the Bill, he uses six different pens. These will later be presented to Congress leaders. The simple act of signing brings into being an act which will alter the whole course of History.

America affirms her decision to see that democracy will survive. The President's signature sets in full swing the giant arms production plants of America, turning them into a gigantic arsenal for the fighters for Freedom. Democracy is all out for total victory. Simultaneous mass production of medium bombers at one plant, will help nearly to double the 40,000 planes originally on order from the States.

Mr. Roosevelt declares that America will play its full part in the destruction of the Dictatorships - That's ~~the~~ the kind of language no one can mistake.
