RECORD SPORTS MEET

It's the final lap of the Columbian Mile at the New York City Track meet, and a neck and neck tussle between Walter Mayel and Les McMitchell with Mayel in front and keeping his distance. McMitchell throws in everything he's got, but the Wisconsin wizard puts on an extra burst of speed and gallops for the post the winner by four yards. In the pole jump Earl Mayers is out to break the record and he goes over a fourteen feet four, now this time he clears the bar at fourteen feet seven and an eighth a magnificent show that sets up a world indoor record. The sixty yards high hurdle - Walcott is level with Tolnich in a breath-taking dash over the sticks, and Walcott wins. The new King of the timber toppers.
