STEEPLECHASE AT MARYLAND

Sunny skies and the Grand National steeplechase brings a large crowd to Hereford, Maryland, to watch 21 gentlemen jockeys battle it out. It's keen end of the season riding for amateur riders, a gruelling test for jumpers and jockeys. The younger set follow the race like ardent punters. Before they get home the riders have to take 18 fences. Stewart Daly's "Winter" is in the lead and he gets on with it, while others get down to it, and Stewart Daly wins. He's rider, trainer and owner of the 1941 champ. It's all yours, Stewart.
