OXFORD IN PORTUGAL.

At Coimbra University, the ancient Portuguese seat of learning, the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law is conferred on the Prime Minister, Dr. Antonio de Oliveira, Salazar.

The ceremony is performed by Oxford dons who went out to Portugal for the special Convocation. Mr. J.R. Weaver, the President of Trinity, confers the degree on Dr. Salazar who, apart from being Prime Minister, is also Minister of War, Finance and Foreign Affairs.

Reputed to be one of the most retiring of Europe's Statesmen, the Portuguese Prime Minister is indeed welcome in the Society of distinguished Etonians.
