VISITORS FROM U.S.A.

A detachment of officers and men of the United States Marine Corps arrive in London to help with the greatly increased work of the American Embassy Staff.

Captain John B. Hill, Officer in charge, inspects his men outside the Embassy before they march to take up their duties.

Among other things, they'll handle the fire watching, so someone can tell that to the Marines, while we also welcome to London Mr. Raymond Gram Swing, America's ace radio news commentator who's voice is so well known in this country. Born in the middle West, he lived for many years in England and is over here now at the invitation of the B.B.C.. Survivors of the liner MAARSDEN, these American nurses on their way to care for air raid victims were torpedoed in the Atlantic.

And that is the Star Spangled Manner.
