SOVIET RUSSIA'S MECHANISED MIGHT.

When these pictures from Russia were taken, the Hitler-Stalin honeymoon was in full bloom. The marriage of convenience has ended with a titanic clash of armed might as Russia and Germany become locked in deadly conflict. War on an unprecedented scale rages between the Red and Black armies.

As the iron-clad hosts of the Soviet and Germany meet in mortal combat, the world marvels at the magnitude and speed of this greatest of all battles. The two giants appear to be battering each other to pieces. While over the Western boundaries of the Reich looms the mighty shadow of Britain.

Has Hitler the madman, by underestimating Soviet strength, himself brought nearer the day, when the world will be freed from the Curse of the Swastika?
