TROTting RACE

Four-footed aristocrats of the trotting ring parade at Goyshon, New York, for the Hambletonian Trophy, one of the most coveted in the country. Flying hoofs and streaming manes are on their way. Sulkies, as the two-wheeled carriages are called, weigh less than 40 pounds and the driver about 150 pounds. We're slowing up the picture so as you can see the animals' amazing action, the result of expert masculine training and high equine intelligence. The winner is the first horse to notch heats out of three and now it's a neck and neck struggle with Harry Whitney's "Bill Gallon" a strong favourite out in front. "Bill Gallon" makes it after one of the toughest fights for years. Gosh, you could almost get a gallon in that cup!
