U.S.S. NORTH CAROLINA... FIRING TRIALS.

THE U.S.S. North Carolina heads out to sea to engage in her firing tests. As the 35 thousand tonner reaches the proving ground, every man goes to action stations and the giant warship prepares to test her ability to withstand the strain of her own guns. Her secondary armament open up.

Now the big fellers are put through their paces.

For four days the new battleship goes gunning. The climax comes at nightfall when nine sixteen-inch and ten five-inch guns fire a spectacular salvo.

Yes, the Carolina's going great guns.
