

BYRD'S LATEST ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION.

Just released, these pictures of Admiral Byrd's expedition to the South Pole, give some idea of the conditions met with by the hardy explorer and his companions.... This expedition had, as its main object, the further exploration of Antarctic territory where the Sunday joint has to be carved with a hatchet!

As usual on such occasions, the 'Committee of Welcome' turned out resplendent in boiled shirts and tails. And they even went down on "all fours" as some gentlemen do on certain occasions. They're a strange lot, these penguins, why, they even have their own Joe Louis.
