WOMEN IN TRAINING

At Falstar, Massachusettes, members of the Women's Defense Force are covering up their faces, not because they're shy, because they want to be efficient. The gas and smoke test for respirators is one of the most realistic for a course that's 5% theory and the rest practise. They even learn fire fighting and rescue work and you can be sure they put up a good show while the men are at home washing the smalls.
