U.S.S. HADDOCK LAUNCHED

Bang goes another bottle of bubbly as the Admiral's lady christens the new American submarine "Haddock" at Portsmouth, New Hampshire. "Haddock" is one of many underwater boats that'll be leaving the stocks at very short intervals. They'll be part of a new fleet of three thousand vessels. So more and more men go into the sea in ships. The oceans of the world are being stocked with shoals of what the crews call 'tin fish'.
