SKI WIZARDS

The skiing season on Washington's Mount Ranier has started in earnest and the lads are queuing up to be the last down and here they come in a gliding procession that makes the snow babies young hearts thrill. Yes, there are thrills and spills but it's all in the day's pleasure. They're 14,000 feet up and some of them try to make it even higher. Some of the jumps are not quite according to plan. Here's a jump that might have been a classic if it hadn't been a dive as well. Being so many feet up seems to have gone to their heads.
