

PATHE GAZETTE: 01/97. (DUBLIN)

QUADS ON THE MOVE

It's moving day for the famous Badget Quads of Galveston, Texas, and perhaps we shouldn't have butted in, but as the little ladies aren't taking the slightest bit of notice of us it mightn't matter after all. Did you ever see anyone so busy? They've got so many clothes to pack it takes the whole morning to do it. Now hurry girls, the porter's at the door. Four little girls in a row check out one of their big trunks. In a moment they will be off to a brand new home that has been given to them by their admirers. Welcoming the bonny Badgets to their new quarters is Mr. George Marshall and each little Cinderella receives a golden key as a souvenir. Well, here they are at last. What about a game of all fall down. My, my, what a bunch of mischief.