KING AND QUEEN WITH THE NAVY!

A busy programme is fulfilled by Their Majesties when they make a six hour visit to Portsmouth. At the Royal Naval Barracks, a thousand Wrens are inspected and detachments of the Fire Fighting Services March past in review.

The parade naturally includes Naval contingents as this is primarily a visit to the Senior Service. The A.F.S. make most of the occasion, giving a display with their appliances. A call at the Royal Marine headquarters is one of the highlights of the day.

Going aboard a submarine, the King is full of praise for the Crew. Men and women of His Majesty's Navy, give voice to the welcome which comes from the heart of Portsmouth.
