

PATHE GAZETTE: 42/2. (DUBLIN)

NEW TYPE OF PLANE

A startling new development in plane design is tried out at Hawthorn, California. It's an all-wing machine with the pilot sitting in the wing. No tail, no rudder, no fuselage, but see how she takes off. With drag and wind resistance greatly reduced the manoeuvrability is amazing. You can always bank on a perfect bank. No machine ever looked more like a moth and experts say she might even completely revolutionise plane construction. The all-wing plane looks like she's come to stay.