NEWBRIEFS-COMMENTARY

Starting in the North we visit one of our aerodromes has General de Gaulle arrives to inspect some of the men of his country, attached to the Free French Squadron of the R.A.F. Similar to our Fleet Air Arm pilots many of these men wear naval uniforms. Quite a few of them have a few Mazi planes to their cedit. General de Gaulle's visit calls for a flying display. A formation of piroraft shows fine original bity in taking up the position in the Cross of Loraine, the Free French emblem. Over Now to Pennsylvania where an American bomber, forced down on a ploughed field is hauled over to the main highway for a spectacular take off. There she goes with only inches to spare either side, main traffic routs like these may well be used for emergency landing grounds, until then it's all yours Mr Motorist. She was only the home guard's daughter but while the old boy's learning fire drill the garls go one better and take up archery. Maybe a new line in targets has something to do with it. Well that takes care of ol' beetle ouss, now table about that stooge of his?. When you've got to go you've got Togo, the louse shooting season is open/Flashback to London, out of No 10 Downing Street come Mr and Mrs/Churchill to meet leaders of the Free Austrians in Britain. The presentation of a trailer canteen to the Prime Minister results in an informal tea party in the most famous street in the world. Wait a minute, something's missing, it's not confidence, ah yes, Carona.
