

BRITAIN'S ANSWER TO E BOATS.

Before setting out from port, the White Ensign is ceremoniously run up to the masthead of a tough little customer of the Royal Navy.
 Britain's answer to the German E Boat is this business-like little vessel now carrying out vital escort and patrol duties round our coasts. A destroyer in miniature, it is speedy, powerful and bristling with armament. Power operated gun turrets, depth charges and other weapons make it a real terror to aircraft, E.boats and U.Boats alike.

The way it can manoeuvre when a ~~km~~ bit of a sea is running, gives a fair idea of its capabilities.

Life at sea brings the best out in a man, so they say.
 Five minutes of this for me would bring out a lot more than that.
