

000335
PATHE GAZETTE 42 - 25, DUBLIN.

MOBILE LAUNDRY.

Yes, they're all a-blowing and a-blowing in the balmy breezes of a North country town. Mums 'n Dads and grandfathers. The mobile laundry has arrived and instead of women having to go down to the river as they did of old, they can bring the smalls and things to the travelling laundry. Bundles of mischief and bundles of washing at the same time. So into the boilers go the nick-nacks, the whats its and the thingamytobs, while into the pictures if they like go the housewives who but for the mobile laundry would have to do it at home or do it in a district washery. The touring wash house caters for every branch of the laundering arm. Well you can't get away from the iron age. Quite a good line, eh!