

PATHE GAZETTE 12 - 26. DUBLIN.

DRY LAND DIVING.

Dry land practice for deep sea diving, swim pool diving anyway. It's the latest idea of the experts. The diving board is a trampoline of training mattress and here is Ann Howard proving it. No pupils were ever more apt or more active. Dry land practices can be a thrill on it's own. But trampoline tactics after all are only a means to an end. The end is the pool. Grand practice for the willow and the other kind.