FREE BELGIAN NAVY GETS A "NEW RECRUIT".

A sleek new Corvette is commissioned for service with the Free Belgian Navy at a British Port. She is handed over to her crew by the Belgian Minister M. Gutt, who is piped aboard the new recruit.

A simple ceremony, but full of meaning as the two flags fly side by side at the ensign staff. Another gallant little vessel starts life in the fight for freedom.

LETTERS FROM HOME.

Here's that matter of letters for the boys coming up again.

Mail sorters in the American Army Post Office in N. Ireland answer the urgent demand to "pep it up". Army work be blowed - this is personal.

There are people who can dish it out, and there are news-hungry fellers who can take it. And here by the way is Butch - wha's got a dame ofer in Texas. Well, let's hope there are enough letters to go round.

Coming over Buddy. Maybe Ma remembers he likes Apple Pie. An occasional parcel makes a nice change. Now, Butch has a little idea of his own. Some fellers like to make a song and dance, but not Butch, he sneaks away and has a little romance with a photograph and a telegraph pole.
