

JUNIOR PARTNERS.

Young Britain and young Russia, Junior partners in the destiny of democracy, meet on the stage of Kingsway Hall, London. The occasion brings together school boys and girls representing the youth of London and the Home Counties, and the Soviet Union.

Another message of greeting comes from an English Boy.

Now comes the heart warming moment when toys for Russian children are handed over, together with a gift of money raised by English children for X-ray equipment for the Red Army.

And now a Russian boy makes a fine speech on behalf of the school children of his country.

Brought together by the common bond of suffering , another generation faces the future bravely.
