SECOND FRONT *

1, V.S. In the Express Hall, London. Sir Stafford Cripps making a speech on the Second Front. He tells of the Anglo-Russian alliance and we must gain revenge for the attack by Hitler on the Russian people. We must strike and strike hard. We must not stop marching until we reach Berlin. S.O.F. 180

2, M.S. Mr Maisky is on the dais with Cripps.

3, V.S. At Birmingham a large crowd is gathered at they listen to a speech S.O.F. by Lord Beaverbrook. He says, " We believe in the Russian Army, we believe in the skill of the Russian Generals, we believe in the equipment of the Russian Divisions and we believe in the fighting power and courage of the Russian Soldiers. We believe in Stalin's leadership and this is the day to proclaim our faith". At this point he waves his hands in the air. He continues. "It is said in some circles that the German's are good and that only Hitler and his accomplices are bad. That's nonsense, pure nonsense. Hitler was made by the Germans, raised to power by the Germans." He goes on to say we must carry the battle on, the battle of the Second Front. 145
