FERRY COMMAND.

Ferry Command delivers the goods. Somewhere in Canada, -aerial crossroads of the world - United Nations airmen are delivering the bombers to Britain.

Were the need for secrecy less great, wonderful stories could be told by the pilots, whose now every day flights, would each have made the headlines in the days before the war. Giant Hudsons and Liberators capable of flying the Atlantic between breakfast and supper head out towards the ocean.

Great Britain and the United States are now putting into action the greatest sky armadas ever seen.
