A large proportion of these accidents occur when young children playing in the street make a sudden rush into the road. Children must play and the streets are a dangerous place. Remember that school playgrounds are generally kept open after hours. If there is a park playground nearby get your children to use it. Warn them against playing near vehicles that may move off, tell them why. Children will listen to reason. Don't jaywalk in traffic when you have children with you. Teach them that the road is for motor traffic, footpaths for people. Train them to always to stop at the kerb
