

0002000
PATHE GAZETTE: 42/62. (DUBLIN)

SKIING IS BELIEVING

Mount Lassen in California, even in summer always obliges the skiers with plenty of snow and skiing's believing. It's the first time some of these skiers have skied on these slopes and many a thrill ends in a spill. That's all part of the fun. The mile long drop is tackled by the more experienced skiers and Bobby Black of Stanford in a minute and a half. You can always be sure to find some good jumpers on Mount Lassen. They've got to be good because the slide's 2000 feet down. Well, it's one way of keeping cool.