BASEBALL IN LONDON.

At Wembley, Mrs. Churchill greets members of the American and Canadian Forces who meet in a Baseball Match, before nearly ten thousand spectators, in aid of the British Red Cross and St. John Fund....Baseball is rather like an intensive form of Rounders, with added pep and fireworks! It's certainly not a game which can be learned from a correspondence course. In the United States Baseball stars receive salaries comparable with Cabinet Ministers, front rank film stars, and (hm) newsreel commentators!

Trying to condense all the thrills of a baseball game within the limits of a newsreel is like trying to get a quart into a thimble - it just can't be done!

Canada beat the United States, and the Red Cross won -- the gate money!
