PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TOUR OF U.S.A.

At San Diego, California, President Roosevelt visits the giant consolidated bomber works. One of the high spots of a 9,000 mile tour of America's war factories and bases. The aircraft building programme is moving fast, to keep pace with the day and night bombing of the Axis.

The Presidential tour includes Bremerton Navy Yard where U.S. Seamen wounded in battle are visited. An incident in the Coast to Coast tour that was kept a secret.

A two-man Japanese submarine brought to the States is now one of Uncle Sam's Museum pieces.

At the Ford Warplane Factory Mr. Roosevelt gathers a huge amount of first-hand information, with many facts and figures supplied by Mr. Henry Ford himself.

At the Chrysler Tank Works at Detroit occurs that bit of headline drama. A ponderous ironclad roars right up to the Presidential Car making a quick stop a few feet away.

A neat reminder that there's a pressing appointment down at the Coast, where America's Shipbuilding wizard is sending another of his Liberty ships down the ways. Henry Kaiser has just set a record, a fully constructed cargo ship built in the amazing time of ten days. There she goes, a lesson in speedy tonnage.
