 COM.
 I had a friend once who liked a lot of water in his bath, an extravagant fellow, you see he and his family of always taken things in a big way. Another friend of mine had very different ideas, he didn't use any water at all, most economical, she always gets herself clean. In the old days I liked the elephant way better, plenty of hot water and if you wanted any more you just had it. That's all over now, no more elephant baths, fuel is scarce it's got to be saved. From now on only five inches of water is all you need, by the way this is my own invention for measuring the bath water, you may have a different way. You see you can do a lot in five inches of water, splash about, sail a boat, have a good wash and sing to.
