WATER LAEKS

The high spot of the aquatic season in New York State is the Water Polo match between New York City and Illinois, and it's one of the grandest tussles in the calendar. If you like to take plenty of water with your sport watch these water babies making a splash at Long Beach. A fine show of passing & bang into the net. A wet and warm reception. It's a thrill a minute game with both teams out to win the Polo Ribbon, and not a sign of cramp to cramp anyone's style. And here's another spot of fine passing. Illinois are sunk by New York four goals to one.
