

POCKET PLANE.

The United States Army is now using a midget aircraft known as the "Piper Cub" "Piper Cub" and nicknamed "The Flying Jeep".

Costing only $130 it has a 65hp engine, a speed of about 90 and can take off like a boy's kite.

Using a road for an airfield. They're so easy to fly that a couple of kids hopped into one the other day and took off. The would-be pilot landed in the arms of the law.
