ENGLISH OUT-RUGGER WELSH

England and Wales, stripes versus broad stripes, come out together for their Rugby League International match at Twickenham. England is skippered by Balshore of Warrington, at full-back, and Wales by Davis of Wales and Huddersfield in the same position. Wales win the toss and open the attack. They're playing a good forward line, that means business. The Welsh team is weakened by the absence of Davis, the brilliant stand off half from Bradford, but the rest of them are certainly not stand-offish, much to the taste of the big crowd. The England skipper is a powerful kicker and soon notches the first goal. Now it's England's turn to attack and they keep the ball in the Welsh half for some time. Both sets of forwards are playing with tremendous energy but England are showing the better team work. Watch this spot of passing. It starts a ding dong struggle that gives the players and the public a good run for their money, pace and skill are here in abundance. England attack again but the Welshmen can use not only their feet but their heads as well. Another spectacular dash and some grand passing. Wales have scored one goal and one tray against England's three goals and three tries. The Rose beats the Leek by 15 points to 9.
