

2-150000

THANKSGIVING FOR VICTORY

The Bells of St. Paul's Cathedral ring out at the close of a National Service of Thanksgiving for the North African victories. The Royal Family, including the Duchess of Kent, at the head of a great congregation which had come to give thanks to God for a mighty victory. The Cathedral had been filled with men and women from all walks of life; Members of Parliament and Merchant Seamen; First and Eighth Army men, and representatives of 34 nations. People of many creeds all united in celebrating a victory over spiritual tyranny.

King Peter of Yugoslavia.

Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten.

The Polish President.

M. Maisky and the Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, The Belgian Ambassador.

The Deputy Prime Minister, Mr. Attlee.

General de Gaulle.

The United States Ambassador, Mr. Winant and Mr. Eden.

Russian Officers of the Soviet Union. These and many others, are to be seen during this call to prayer. A service at which men of many nations foregathered to join in giving thanks.