

CHILDREN'S COSENER.

Circus and Gymkhana in the Home Park Windsor Castle. The children of the late Duke and the Duchess of Kent, Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra visit their first circus - part of the Winner "Wings for Victory" Campaign. A pronounced success (if pronouncing can be done without losing the taffee).

Winner of the under 14 contest. A young lady with a good seat and a winning smile.

They get right among the fun. An off-stage remark from the Prince and "Barney" the donkey comes in for some petting.

Leaving the Prince and Princess we cross to America where other children make the news. The Dionne Quintuplets; five little girls launching five freighters for Britain under lease-load. Annette smashes her pint of Niagara River water over the bow, and the mass launching is under way.

Next in alphabetical order is Cecile ... who gets a helping hand.

Third, Emilie - followed by Marie. At this rate the team of Canadian sisters is turning them out quicker than Henry Kaiser.

And last of all - Yvonne.

For nine year olds, they're doing all right.
