

TITLE.-----this magnificent and humane work

Picture.: This splendid vessel is the biggest and fastest life-boat in the world. In addition to its regular duty of assisting mariners in distress it will serve as a guard against casualties in cross-Channel air traffic.

When the Prince of Wales - President of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution - arrives at Wellington Dock to name the vessel, the Mayor of Dover opens the proceedings. His Royal Highness then names the life-boat "Sir William Hillary", after the founder of the Life-boat Institution, remarking as he does so that "Sir William was the greatest of all lifeboatmen"

Next the Prince cuts a ribbon - and the finest vessel of its kind glides slowly down the slip-way towards the sea - to add its number to the two-hundred-odd lifeboats stationed around our island coast manned by heroes always ready and willing to dare all for those in peril on the sea.

Let us join the Prince in his wish that good fortune may attend the "Sir William Hillary" !

TITLE.: ANOTHER GOOD DEED.

Picture.: While her brother, the Prince, was busy at Dover, Her Royal Highness Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood, heralded by a fanfare by trumpeters of the Lancers, arrives at the renowned Queen Charlotte's Maternity Hospital to add yet another good deed to the many already performed by their Majesties only daughter.

Her Royal Highness passes before those splendid women, the hospital nurses, - to the platform, where formalities in connection with the ceremony are conducted after the National Anthem has been played.

The Princess then proceeds to the object of her visit - the actual opening of the new building.

Then to a final fanfare of trumpets Her Royal Highness departs leaving behind her grateful hearts for her kindly deed.
