

TITLE.:- BOYS OF THE BULL-DOG BREED.

Picture.: The present Training Ship "Warspite" is a light cruiser of fairly recent type.

The great day on board is when Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt arrives to inspect the company.

After the inspection, headed by their band, the whole of the ships company marches past as the Admiral takes the salute from the bridge.

There are now one hundred and eighty boys in training on the Warspite.

Of course, these lads wouldn't be human if prize giving failed to give them a thrill - the most coveted of all being the Earl of Shaftesbury Shield for all round proficiency.

This little lad might well look happy !

To close the proceedings the entire ship's company give to their visitors three hearty cheers - and now, I suppose they are all looking forward to next year.

COMMENTATOR.:- Well ! Cheerio everybody ! We'll be with you again in a few days.
