

TITLE.:- BIRDS OF ALL NATIONS.

Picture.:- One might almost call these Hungarian ducks, "lay" sisters.-

-This fine feathered marvel comes from Holland -

-as does this family of Plymouth Rock, no doubt as succulent as the other kind of "rock"-

-this funny fellow is an Indian Jungle Fowl -

-while from the Argentine come these Silkie White Japanese -

-and from America this fine Wyandotte Buff.

TITLE.:- FISHER-FOLK GREET THE MIKADO.

Picture.:- A sea of waving flags greet His Imperial Majesty when he arrives at the southern seaport.

No Eastern pomp marks the visit - in fact the Japanese Emperor - ruler over seventy million people, inclines rather to the simplicity of Western democracy.

Every youngster waves aloft the national emblem, the Rising Sun - but the aged folk still regard their Emperor with such reverence that they bow their heads as the Mikado passes by.

TITLE.:- ROYAL WELSH SHOW.

Picture.:- Keen disappointment was felt when it was learned that the awful weather made it impossible for the Prince of Wales to fly to Carnarvon to keep his promise to open the show.

Many of the world's finest animals were exhibited at the Royal Welsh Show.

-Here is His Majesty's "Windsor Juggler" which won the first for Hereford cattle - he's a real beauty, isn't he ?

Here comes nearly three quarters of a ton of beef in one piece.

This is the Prince of Wales' Champion Shorthorn "Aldie Knight".
