

5-21181

(9)

TITLE. : -AMY COMES HOME.

Picture. Out of the storm laden clouds comes the "Queen of the Skies", returning to England after her magnificent flight to Australia.

Of course, its a feminine prerogative to be late, and Miss Amy Johnson was three hours overdue when at last the Imperial Airways liner "City of Glasgow with this splendid girl aboard landed at Croydon, after the sun had gone down.

Seldom has anyone had such a welcome as that which was accorded this national heroine -- and as the great air-liner comes to rest many distinguished people prepare to greet "Our Amy".

You can just get a glimpse of her stepping from the machine to the welcoming arms of her mother --

Then a move is made to the platform where formal greetings are to be exchanged.

On mounting the platform, Amy catches sight of a friend

Here we see Lord Thomson making a speech of greeting on behalf of the Government -- while we get our first really good view of Amy.

Then to the assembled crowd, and to millions of "listeners-in", Miss Johnson offers thanks, begging all to call her "Johannie", as do her personal friends.

By the way -- we mustn't forget Johannie's gallant little machine "Jason" -- it did splendid work -- Well done "Jason" -- and -- Well done, Johannie ! We're proud of you, "Queen of the Skies"

COMMENTATOR. : Well ! cheerio everybody ! We'll be with you again in a few days.

TRADE MARK. "UNIVERSAL TALKING NEWS.