TITLE.:- ICELANDIC WRESTLING.

Picture. :- These fine looking chaps indulge in a style of wrestling never seen anywhere but in Iceland.

Only the belt-grip is allowed -- and by this means they lift and pull each other about, in strenuous efforts to bring about a fall.

Footwork plays an important part in this one !

These two might be practising a new fox-trot -- or perhaps I should say "Bunny Hug".

This -- the final bout of the Championship Meeting is one of the sternest struggles ever seen in Thingvalla and results in an energetic "throw" -- here it is ! - hot work !

TITLE.:- HISTORICAL PAGEANTRY.

Picture.:- This scene represents the Court of King John who gave to Lancaster its first charter.

With Queen Isabel, John receives homage from Alexander, King of Scots -- displaying the while his usual insolence.

News that Phillip has declared war on John's Dukedom of Normandy causes the Court to break up in confusion.

One hundred and sixty years later, we see Blanch Duchess of Lancaster, arriving with her great retinue of Ladies-in-Waiting, and their attendant pages.

And here is John of Gaunt with his Duchess making obeisance to the Archbishop of York on the occasion of that worthy's visit to the town in connection with a ceremony of the Church.
