TITLE.:- THE LINDBERGH BEACON.

Picture.:- Away on top of this skyscraper in the heart of Chicago, is being erected a beacon which will consist of an eleven million candle power light, directing airman to the Municipal Air Port.

Workmen are daily taking all sorts of risks -- for instance, look at this fellow --

--and this ! He's over five hundred feet up -- but that doesn't seem to worry him much.

If he did this in a circus, he'd be considered a "star" turn, without a doubt.

This is what the street looks like from the roof, and here's that fellow again, leaning over -- bruh ! let's pass on to the next picture.

TITLE.:-"LONG LIVE THE KING"

Picture.:- Quite a crowd gathered outside Buckingham Palace to bid "God Speed !" to their Majesties.

As the Royal car appears, the people press forward to catch a glimpse of the King & Queen, who are here seen graciously acknowledging the cheers.

They are on their way to Sandringham, whence they will go North to Balmoral -- and to Glamis to visit the Duke and Duchess of York.
