

(4). TITLE. :- FIFTH LADY IN THE LAND.

Picture. :- The happiest royal love match of modern times has again been blessed by the arrival of another little Princess.

Here's the Royal Mother, bless her, on the occasion of a visit to Studley College.

Her new little daughter is the first Royal Princess to be born in Scotland for three hundred years.

I'm sure we all wish the Duchess and her little one "Jolly good health !" -- not forgetting the new baby's elder sister, Princess Elizabeth. Sorry we can't show you the new arrival -- she's a bit young yet !

(5). TITLE. :- AS IN DAYS OF OLD.

Picture. :- The quaint little historic town of Sandwich is the scene of a striking parade of "people of the past", in aid of Kentish charities. It is headed by a figure mounted on a white horse - "Invictor, The Spirit of Kent".

It rained like -er- anything all day, but these good people saw it through in spite of the elements -- although umbrellas were a prominent feature of the procession.

Not a complaint was heard about the ruination of hundreds of these old-world costumes -- many of which had taken months to prepare.

(6). TITLE. :- OUR WONDERFUL CLIMATE.

Picture. :- As this storm broke over the coast, it broke the hearts of many who had gone to the seaside to seek the sunshine.

Look at this ! They nearly got it down their necks.

Fancy waiting fifty weeks for a fortnight's holiday and getting this thrown in !

You couldn't very well call this a fair sample of English summer weather.

Its far from fair -- you should have heard what these holiday-makers called it.

The "song of the sea" was simply a succession of high C's -- on this occasion !

I think I'll try Manchester for my holidays, next year !
