(6). TITLE.:- SUMMER SENSE

Picture.:- Mrs Grundy is, fortunately, not employed at the Alexandra Works. So when the hot weather worries them, the order goes round to everybody to "keep cool",

They do this admirably -- and sensibly.

They are glad they live in the twentieth century and not in the narrow-minded Victorian era.

I wish I could dress like this for my job when it's hot !

(7). TITLE. :- A PAYING HOLIDAY.

Picture.:- It is estimated that some sixty thousand men, women, and children will be engaged in stripping the hop-plant of its flowers, which, as everybody knows, are used for -- er, medicine! I expect you thought I was going to say BEER.

Whole families get out into the open air and make their holiday a paying one.

Experts make a good thing out of it.

They are paid so much a bushel of flowers stripped from the vine--
--and when a certain area is quite cleared and ~~the~~ vines are bare--
--the pickers are sent off to new pitches.

So the work goes on and the brewers get their hops.

Did you know that hops really are used in medicine as well as in that delightful beverage I'm --er, at least, "here's hopping".
