

135542-C
135542-C

(2).

TITLE. :- BRITISH LEGION AT SANDHURST.

Picture. :- The Gentlemen Cadets of the Royal Military College, Sandhurst are unexcelled for their military smartness. They lead the March Past at the combined parade with the Berks, Hants and Surrey British Legion -- this being the first time such a parade has ever taken place.

As the Legion reaches the saluting base it is seen that they have nothing to be ashamed of --

--and General Hornby is impressed by their smartness.

Two V.C.'s are amongst the Standard Bearers of the South Eastern Area. Of course --

--General Hornby is, himself, also a V.C.

These veterans hope the Cadets will never have the war experiences of 1914 to 1918.

(3).

TITLE. :- ITALY IN AMERICA.

Picture. :- The Fiesta of St. Anthony is a great day for New York's "Little Italy". Thousands turn out to honour the Saint, blocking the streets with a mass of humanity.

The huge tower bearing the Saints effigy cost nearly two thousand pounds, and is borne through the streets by over a hundred men.

This scene might well be ⁱⁿ a town in Italy -- for practically every single individual in it is an Italian.