TITLE.:- GRAF ZEPPELIN VISITS RUSSIA.

Picture.:- The big German airship is carrying out many long distance flights; one of her latest being to Russia. She makes a fine sight as she leaves her shed for the trip.

This little run is one of about one thousand miles -- a mere nothing to the big Zepp.

Looking down on Soviet Russia, -- which, from these angles, appears to be pretty well like any other country. The Graf Zeppelin approaches its destination--

--having accomplished the trip in good time.

At Moscow, the capital of the Soviet Republic, Russian troops assist in landing the monster airship.

Hullo ! Oh it's one of the landing party !

Safely landed; adding yet another fine flight to her many spectacular achievements.

The officers and crew are accorded a most enthusiastic reception by a big crowd of Russians.

Doctor Eckener, the airship's commander, is greeted by Soviet officials.
