

2-072221

TITLE.:- CANADIAN BOBBIES.

Picture.:- Once a year the entire police force of Montreal is inspected by --

--the Mayor of the City (Mr. Houde). He's in jovial mood to-day --

--and the smartness of the city's "guardians of the peace" should tend to keep him so.

They look as though they can stand the responsibility of keeping the city in order.

The Chief of Police, seen here in uniform, takes the salute.

Montreal shows us the way. We, in Britain, might very well do with a motor-cycle-police-corps.

With all these policemen away from their regular duty of looking after other people's affairs --

--one wonders if the bad men of the city got extra busy. Perhaps a truce was called, and the crooks took a few hours off, too !

Nevertheless, it is said that many of the least trustful of the law-abiding citizens stayed at home. Wise people !