TITLE.:- FOOTBALL IN FRANCE.

Picture. :- The Londoners were drawn from places as far apart as Mitcham and Chelmsford, while the --

--Parisians were a very strong team, selected with a care which proved to be quite sound.

From the start, it is obvious that the French players are in good form. They attack with a spirit and dash which rather takes the Londoners by surprise. But they soon recover and come back at the Parisians with all the verve the occasion demands.

A big crowd, including many British visitors to Paris, watch this struggle.

The first goal goes to the Londoners, and the shock serves as a tonic to the Frenchmen--

--who jump to it, and soon start to plug goal after goal past the English goal-keeper.

See this ! -- Saved ! No !GOAL. So Paris wins, six-three.
