(1). TITLE.:- CHANGING THE GUARD.

Picture.:- The historic Castle makes a fine setting for military ceremonial. Here come the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, to take over the guard. This -- --is a popular piece of pageantry, which never fails to attract an appreciative audience to the Castle Esplanade. They make --

--an effective picture, as they enter the Castle to take over a duty, which this particular battalion has not undertaken here for very many -- --years. Military efficiency is always an outstanding feature of this picturesque ceremony, while of -- --course, the beautifully worked King's Colour plays a prominent part - adding to the attractive nature of the spectacle. There's always a thrill, watching the kilties. They -- --inspire one with a sense of pride in their splendid appearance, for there's nothing like them, anywhere else in the -- --world. Here's the Regimental mascot, a trim little pony, which was presented by Princess Louise. Several --

--thousands saw the ceremony on this occasion. You can't blame them. It's a good show - and it's free!
